

University of Missouri Extension Phelps County

Description:

The services of the University of Missouri Extension Center & its staff are made possible by the University of Missouri, Lincoln University, the United States Department of Agriculture, & by the county in which you live. There is a University of Missouri Extension Center in almost every county in the state, usually in the county seat. The "state" is the campus, & each center is your door to the universities & their resources. Your Extension Center is here to serve you. Call or stop by your local office if you have a question or problem. At each Extension Center you can get literature or help from trained specialists.
