Clients approach us for our help with a wide variety of legal issues. These problems often involve criminal defense needs, family law concerns and personal injury matters. Attorney McMahon helps clients understand all of their legal options, not just the ones presented to them by prosecutors, insurance companies and others. Because they know they have been fully advised by an experienced guide who has taken the time to work with them individually, our clients choose confidently from these options, even in difficult cases. Make an appointment today for a free initial consultation with our firm's attorney, Paul J. McMahon. Call 800-398-1714. You can also contact us online. All consultations remain confidential.
